

The null is not a layer-choice artefact: B is inside the noise floor against both computed directions at every index

